Open Day Newsletter 2017

A very warm welcome to our 2017 Lime Tree House Newsletter

What a wonderful Open Day we had this year! The sun shone and it was wonderful to see many of you with us.

Our Inspirational Speaker this year was Mrs Cate Vincent C.S. who shared many wonderful vibrant spiritual ideas with us, in her talk entitled, 'Divine Oneness'.

It was also a joy to be able to share lots of the good work, sing some of the new hymns from our wonderful new hymnal and share many healings that people have experienced while staying at Lime Tree House.

We have included much of these talks in this newsletter, along with news about our recent inspection and attic conversion project.

This newsletter has been published a little later in the year due to the start of this new attic conversion project. You will hear more about this as you read on.

We always love to hear from you if you have any questions about Lime Tree House and any ways in which we can support you or your loved ones, so do be in touch.

Enjoy reading, and we hope you feel the embrace of Lime Tree House and the outstretched arms of God's healing love in the ideas shared.

With love from us all.

Open Day Report 2017

Julie Brearley, Christian Science Nursing Manager

Good afternoon, and thank you all for coming to celebrate Lime Tree House, it is wonderful to see you all here today. Whether this is the first time you've been to one of our meetings or not, we extend a very loving embrace to each of you.

Over the last year we have seen some beautiful healings and progress which I will be sharing with you. I will also be telling you about inspections we have had this year and the Association of Christian Science nursing conference I attended in Arizona last month.

It is always precious to be able to respond to calls for care or to enable someone to have a 'Spiritual Refreshment' break and Lime Tree House has blessed so many in many different ways.

I would like to start though by sharing with you all, and asking you to share with your church families and fellow Christian Scientists, that Lime Tree House is their temporary 'home' when they need it, where they can feel at home. 'Home (that) is the dearest spot on earth,' as Mrs Eddy says.

If we think of it as 'our home' then we do not need to feel it is too far away and that we will miss our own home. The qualities of home are so strong and tangible that we are blessed immediately upon arrival. We are cocooned in God's Love even before we arrive and certainly once we arrive!

In Mrs Eddy's writings Home often goes along with the idea of heaven. As she says in Science and Health, 'Pilgrim on earth, thy home is heaven, stranger thou art the guest of God'. In hymn 278 it also says 'Home and heaven are within thee' and in the same verse we are assured that we are ... 'Cared for, watched over, beloved and protected'. Lime Tree House certainly is a place where we are cared for, watched over, beloved and protected!

One of the comments of gratitude we hear a lot is that it is a 'Home from home'. In fact a lovely story I'd just like to share is about a stray cat that come to us last year. We did all the practical things to try and reunite her with her owner, but no one claimed her and all the sanctuaries were full. We fed and cared for her and prayed to see her sense of home as complete. We named her Poppy! One of the daughters of a guest staying with us embraced her into her home and Poppy settled well into her new loving home. We loved getting update photos of her progress! So the idea of home we embrace, blessed her too!

We hope that you will always feel that it is your home and available to you if you ever need a quiet place for spiritual refreshment, or just need to experience God's precious and awesome care for you. It may seem a long way to come but we have always been able to arrange transport to support people to get here. People come to Lime Tree House from all over the UK and we can also support you with the cost of this too.

We continue to be immensely grateful for the support of The Aid Fund for Christian Scientists in need of nursing care, who financially assist so many with the cost of this care. This fund enables anyone in need to be able to access that care, without money worries getting in the way of their healing. If you have any questions about this financial support, please call and speak to either myself or Steven and we can share with you how easy it is to access this fund.

Some of the healings we see happen quickly, so even though some people may have come a distance, they can come and be embraced in the wonderful Love here and quickly return home.

I once went to collect a lady who needed to come here for some Christian Science nursing care. It was about a 200 mile round trip. We shared such lovely ideas on the journey and by the time we arrived at Lime Tree House the lady was expressing such freedom that she stayed for a few days Rest and Study and then went home.

We know we don't need to go anywhere to feel this healing presence and power! Sometimes though we need to be where the atmosphere is so strong in this healing expectancy that we are strengthened in our prayers, and with the support of everyone around us we progress and see healing.

This is the beauty of Lime Tree House; we all stand firm and strong together and witness this healing power, away from the world's material influence, and 'like brother birds we soar and sing'.

Let me tell you a little about what Christian Science nursing is. It springs from a deep love for God and man. As many of you may know Mrs Eddy put a By Law in the Church Manual entitled Christian Science nurse. You can find it on page 49. She saw the great need of practical help being provided, while people are praying and leaning on Christian Science for healing. But she also saw how important it is that the atmosphere that surrounds a patient is expectant of complete healing and is not fearful, but is based on the foundation of spiritual healing as practised in Christian Science.

Julie Brearley

Christian Science nurses are trained to take care of the human needs, while keeping thought focused on the reality and purity of God's creation, and trusting in God's wisdom to provide the care in just the right way. Christian Science nurses come metaphysically prepared to humbly listen and care for patients with skill and grace. It takes on average three years to train to become a Journal Listed Christian Science nurse!

I love to think that Christian Science nursing helps us all feel the HUG of GOD, it helps us feel His love for us in such a tangible way.

I'm sure many of you have thought about the qualities and definitions of a nurse. Some are ... love, nurturing, encouragement, promoting peace, reassurance, protecting and safeguarding.

The original meaning of nurse in Latin is 'nourish' and Webster's dictionary defines nourish ... to nurture, to promote the growth of, to sustain with nutriment, and to maintain and support.

We know all this is supplied by our Father Mother God, and our Father Mother Nurse is doing all this for all mankind all the time.

We have seen evidence of this in the actions of so many over recent days since the incident in Manchester. The outpouring of love, care, and support, both practical and prayerful, unselfishness and unity has been strengthening and inspiring. We can pray that this becomes the new normal, that this can sustain, and be a constant and unifying sense of Life for all.

We pray too that these true nursing qualities continue to support all those affected as we move forward. That those paramedics that were so unselfishly caring and treating the injured, can be touched by the power of God's awesome Love, by our Father Mother nurse and this can help them let go of awful pictures and scenes to bring them peace and healing. We can actively nurse them in our prayers.

We know that it will always be love that brings comfort, that supports and heals. Let us continue to nurse our community in this way, and know that each one reflects all the wonderful nursing qualities and can be nursed and supported by God, by Love, the true nurse. This nurturing

Love is present in every room at Lime Tree and it is supporting freedom, progress and healing.

We are very blessed to have such a dedicated and loving team of Christian Science nurses at Lime Tree.

Each Christian Science nurse supports not only the patients but each other, and I find it an absolute joy to work with such a fabulous team. We work and grow together and have the joy and privilege to witness God's healing care.

Our team consists of nine Journal Listed Christian Science nurses and three in training.

We have a wonderful deputy Christian Science Nursing Manager – Jutta Hudson, whose unflinching support is a wonderful blessing to Lime Tree House.

We have an Administrator who many of you know, Steven, and he is ably assisted by Ralph, who you may well have spoken to if you have phoned Lime Tree House. Both Steven and Ralph bless Lime Tree House with their love, care and deep support of all the Christian Science nurses, ensuring all the essential administrative items are completed from payroll to pensions and the maintenance of the house, while keeping the focus of the house on the healing ministry of Christian Science nursing

We have three chefs, two of whom are class taught students of Christian Science.

We also have a wonderful Board who give so unselfishly of their inspiration and time to support the progress of the house.

It is a special joy to support Christian Science nurses in training and witness their progress. We have two On the Job Instructors (OJI) who work to support them to grow in their practical and Christly listening skills, and we have just appointed a third OJI to our team. This love of Christian Science nursing and the growth we all want to be part of, the inspiration and enthusiasm to share this great work is something we cherish and passionately support. Having three OJIs who love this work is testament to this vision.

One of our Journal Listed Christian Science nurses gave a one day course on Christian Science nursing recently to support someone who is inspired to take up this work.

Are you interested in Christian Science nursing? Then do get in touch with us. There are ways in which we can support you to work in this wonderful ministry.

How does the world see what we do?

Well, our last Care Quality Commission Inspection judged our care as being ‘outstanding’.

We were also inspected by Trafford council in February this year. Two inspectors spent the day here and went through policies, procedures, care plans and stacks of documentation and asked lots of questions. The inspectors saw that we do some things quite differently than mainstream homes, but sought to use the evidence we provided to satisfy their requirements and show how well we care. We were so grateful for the supportive and understanding way they completed the inspection. At the end we were told that we had been given 98%, the highest they have ever awarded.

Continuing with the good let me share with you some healings ...

One day a patient became unwell and by later in the evening they became hardly able to move or walk, had a breathing challenge and declined all food. They were assisted to bed, where the Christian Science nurse on duty gave their full support to his care needs.

Their Christian Science Practitioner was called for prayerful support and I was called and came straight to Lime Tree. His family was also called and they set off to travel to Lime Tree immediately.

Over the next few hours we continued to give care and support and at about 10.30pm there was such a sense of peace evidenced that I left the room, and then returned again just before 11pm.

When I returned and opened the door to check the patient, he was up and about in his room and free. I made him something to eat and drink and we were sat talking together when his son arrived who couldn't believe the change and the healing. He stayed with his Dad until he went to sleep, rejoicing in what he saw, and then went home.

We rejoiced in another proof of God's healing care. A lady arrived in a friend's car, unable to walk more than one or two steps. She was taken by wheelchair to a room and given support with her care needs. By the next morning she was walking independently with a walker around the house.

Clockwise, from top left: one of the bedrooms; the front planter; cakes; the lounge and conservatory

Another lady was brought to the house by private ambulance with a severe cough and unable retain food. We poured in the wonderful Christian Science nursing that we do so well and she was completely healed and returned home.

A staff member wrote to us recently after her stay when she needed Christian Science nursing care. She says ...

‘After being involved in a road accident, I was taken to the hospital where I was told that I had dislocated my ankle and broken some of the bones in my foot. My foot was operated on and after a week I went to Lime Tree where I made progress. I was grateful that I experienced no pain. I am grateful that my needs were taken care of at Lime Tree which enabled me to devote my time to studying. After some weeks I was able to return home and when I visited the hospital for a check-up they gave me a walking stick and said that I would always need to walk with it. For over a year now I have walked without a stick and have weeded and planted my garden, and am able to be back at work. Thank you for all the care I had at Lime Tree House.’

Last year we received a call from a lady whose sister had been in hospital and was now in a medical nursing home. This lady had relied on Christian Science for many years. She wanted to be able to give up the pills and radically rely on Christian Science for healing and be cared for by Christian Science nurses at Lime Tree. The medical professionals had said that she would never be able to walk, talk or get any better than she was. A Christian Science Practitioner was supporting her and the manager of the nursing home was open to spiritual healing. I flew up to Scotland to meet with them all, to discuss how we could support this idea. It was so right to support this dear one and her sister. The GP agreed to take the lady off all medication in a managed way and once she was free of this she came by private ambulance to us here. This lady is now walking, and has gained so much healing progress in her experience. God never gives up on us and we are always in His loving care.

We have also supported those needing help to return home, whether it’s working with social services, private care agencies, or stair lift companies. Some of these situations have required taking patients home to have home assessments and assisted them in ordering equipment for home. This continued care has enabled them to return home and continue living at home.

This year I was blessed to be able to attend the Association of Christian Science Nursing conference which was held in Phoenix, Arizona ...

There were over 100 people there, comprising Administrators, Christian Science nurses and board members from around the world. The conference was over 4 days and the agenda included metaphysical talks, and workshops, with topics such as ‘Our healing ministry and sacred trust’ and ‘God’s promises are kept’ and ‘God sets the pace’.

There were many speakers covering issues regarding regulation, and working with government legislators, the Manager of Christian Science nursing at The Mother Church, and presentations by some of the Christian Science nursing training programmes from around the world. It was a wonderful conference where I felt we were like ‘brother birds soaring and singing’ as we worked together in unity of love and purpose. We also had a video conference with the Board of Directors of The Mother Church.

There were workshop sessions for those in their respective offices and it is always a wonderful opportunity to share ideas with those also doing this work. We continue to pray about our Visiting Christian Science nurse service. Please be assured that if you do have a need for a Christian Science nurse to visit you at home you can always call a Christian Science nurse listed in the Christian Science Journal, or you can call Lime Tree House for advice; we do sometimes have a Christian Science nurse who could visit you at home. We have also supported and enabled people to access Christian Science nursing in other ways.

You can also talk with a Christian Science Practitioner and they will be able to guide you too.

Please do be in touch with us if you need help with a situation and we will support you as much as we are able to. Please do not feel isolated; our earnest desire is to continue to support our community.

I would love to share some wonderful comments of gratitude from people who have stayed with us, and from their family and friends who have been touched by their loved ones’ progress and healing and care.

These are just a few....

- 1 ‘It is a foretaste of heaven to visit Lime Tree’
- 2 ‘You are all unfailingly cheerful, patient and attentive, always going the extra mile, I have felt embraced in “Love” the whole time’
- 3 From a patient’s son: ‘It gives me peace of mind knowing that she is cared for so well by you all. When I visited Mum on Saturday I could see that she is doing so much better. The home is fabulous, the care is wonderful, all in all it is outstanding to see how you care for people here.’

- 4 ‘Thank you, your care and attention to every detail and the love expressed by everyone was just so lovely’
- 5 ‘The standard of care couldn’t be higher’
- 6 ‘You are amazing, thank you for caring so deeply’
- 7 ‘Thank you so much for my memorable stay, your unselfed love and all the wonderful care and attention, such a precious time, a home from home’
- 8 From a patient’s son who is not a Christian Scientist: ‘What you did for Mum was truly amazing, the best care we could have wished for. I couldn’t be happier that Mum was with such beautiful people like the people at Lime Tree, the world would be such a better place if everybody were like you. You will always be in my heart and thoughts.’

Would you like to come and join this family of Lime Tree, perhaps you have a little time and would like to share it with us?

Perhaps music and singing are your gift, or arranging flowers or a craft activity or maybe you could come and read the Bible Lesson, or perhaps conduct a testimony meeting occasionally ...

Those who have helped have said how the blessing has been two way and they have felt enriched by helping us. Your contribution would be a great gift to the house and everyone here. We would love to hear from you if you feel able to support us in this way.

If you have any questions just call us to talk something through. Many times people have called and experienced such loving support that they have felt uplifted to work through whatever they are dealing with, whether they have needed to come to Lime Tree or other care has been arranged.

Every one that comes to the house whether they are patients, families, officials, contractors, builders, hairdressers or government inspectors always comment on how peaceful, calm, dignified and loving the atmosphere in the house is.

We are also always very happy to come to your church and talk about the work of Lime Tree, please do contact us if you would like us to visit your church.

Lime Tree House truly is your haven of peace, rest, joy and healing awaiting you if you need its care and Christly comfort.

We look forward to welcoming you to your very special healing home, where we trust that you will always feel at home.

Our Attic Project

We have just started an exciting project of converting our attic.

Once completed, this will provide us with a staff flat with an ensuite, a meeting room and an additional office. The contractors have erected a tent over the roof to keep us all dry in the house, while they construct a new large dormer in the front of the house and several new Velux roof windows to provide lots of light, all of which will be a great blessing. This is due to be completed by early December.

Look out for our next newsletter in the New Year with some photos of the completed project.

The attic conversion

Inspection by the Care Quality Commission

In August we had an unannounced inspection by CQC. We are grateful that it went so well, and the inspectors commented on the great care we provide.

One of the comments that the Inspector made was that it is so wonderful to see that patients make progress here; – she said that she could see this through reading care plans and talking with patients.

We have again been judged to be a Good home and our caring has been judged to be ‘Outstanding’. It has been a joy to receive emails of congratulations from our local council on the results of our latest inspection.

If you wish to read our full report you can find it on the CQC website and search for Lime Tree House.

Open the door ...

Cate Vincent C.S.

Your refrigerator is probably white. Mine is white too ... and red. When my British husband and I lived in America, my daughter painted our refrigerator to make him feel more at home. It's the most famous refrigerator in Illinois!

People come to our front door and ask if they may bring friends in to see it. After the incredulity, I always ask them, 'What do you have to do to make your refrigerator light go on? Say it's midnight and you want a glass of milk, what do you have to do to insure that a light will go on when you reach for the milk?' They always answer, 'Open the door, just open the door.'

Aren't we all seeking the light? Aren't we all eager for light to dawn on consciousness, and for light to flood our reasoning, and understanding, and to bring healing to this world, to our homes, to ourselves? This should be a really short explanation because the answer is, 'all we need to do is open the door.' Ahhh, but here's where the explanation might get a bit longer. How do we open the door of thought to let in the light?

I've found that the most direct route to letting in the light, for me, is to turn to God to direct my every step. I've often said, 'Okey-doke, I'm willing to do whatever you want me to do, but, God, you'll have to put everything in place for me to accomplish what you want me to accomplish. In fact, God, I know I can, by myself do nothing, but that all things are possible with my hand in yours.'

For some searchers, letting in the light means to put aside time each day for taking steps toward their own spiritual quests. Perhaps reading the Christian Science Bible Lesson early each day puts you in an 'open door' thought. Or singing hymns, or hiking a mountain.

Mary Baker Eddy, who discovered Christian Science, and wrote the step-by-step path to Christian healing, wrote, ‘Church: The structure of Truth and Love; whatever rests upon and proceeds from divine Principle.’ (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 583) I often emphasize the word ‘whatever’ as I read that sentence. We can find spirituality in quietude, or in being abuzz with creative activity, sitting next to a pond in a quiet wood, or sitting on an airplane over Andalusia. The only necessity is moving toward the light, on whatever route we find opens the door for us. God is the light. All we do is open the door to let that light in.

On page 18 of her book, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, there is this marginal insert: DIVINE ONENESS, and next to it, she wrote, Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man’s oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage.

We should ask ourselves, are we paying endless homage to the Christ? How could we obey, and pay endless homage? What would it look like?

Our job is to let in the light, not to make that light. As George Moffet wrote in an article for the Christian Science Publishing Society, Magellan did not set sail to make the world round, but to prove that it already was round. As we let in the light, we see the actuality, the reality, of Divine Oneness. Right here. Right now.

Christian Science nurses have gone one step further... they help others to open the door to let the light in. They’ve dedicated their lives, their days, to letting in the light for others. Hmmmm ... isn’t that what Jesus did? And, aren’t we supposed to follow in his footsteps?

I learned that lesson when I was a brand-new Christian Science nurse. One Sunday morning I had an unusual opportunity to practice what I’d learned. Toward the end of the church service, a man in a pew fell over and apparently stopped breathing. I did what some of you might have done. I left the church, got in my car, and headed home! I didn’t know if I could deal with so serious a situation. I breathed a sigh of relief as I reached the end of the church driveway. And that’s when I heard the knock on my window.

Someone had run out of the church, chased my car, rapped on my window and asked if I was a Christian Science nurse. She told me there was a situation inside, and nobody knew what to do, and would I ‘please, please’ come and help.

For a slight second I considered saying no. But then I realized that I’d be relying totally on God to be in charge. I would do what He was telling me to do. ALL I HAD TO DO WAS OPEN THE DOOR FOR THE LIGHT TO COME IN.

All of a sudden, I was confident – eager in fact – to have a chance to prove how Christian Science works. Whatever the challenge might be. And so I returned to the church. As I walked in, listening for direction from God, I remembered a phrase from Luke in the Bible: ‘... and he put them all out.’ It was from the story where Jesus raised the daughter of the ruler of the synagogue (see Luke 8:41, 42, 49–56). With my newly found courage I said as gently as I could to those gathered around the man, ‘Could you all leave, please?’ And then I added, ‘And please shut the door behind you.’ As I look back, that sounds sort of cheeky, but at the time I was simply listening to God.

I sat beside the man, who was still not breathing, and attended to the tasks of providing comfort – loosening his belt and tie, putting my sweater under his head for a pillow, etc. There we were, just the two of us, as I sat, and he lay there, not breathing. As I look back, I smile at the confidence I had – confidence that divine Love was meeting every human need.

The promise of that was written on that very church wall. I reasoned that Divine Love, was God, so God was meeting every human need. That was God’s job. The other saying, ‘Ye shall know the Truth and the Truth shall make you free’, was my job. Ye meant me. So my job was simply to know the Truth.

The truth was that God, or Life, was all around. I had no doubt.

After about 15 minutes, I glanced down and saw that his skin was beginning to brighten, and he had opened his eyes. Within a few short minutes, we both walked out the front door the he went home with his family, perfectly well.

Harmony of Life is a way of thinking, spiritual thinking. Healing is a change of thought, it doesn’t have anything to do with checking rashes, or burned fingers, or painful joints, or well, you get the picture ... it’s all thought.

Prayer, a natural state of being, keeps us close to God, one good God, and points us in the right direction for seeing harmony in our lives. Prayer isn’t dependent on a quiet place with candles, and repetition of particular words. We can pray in a cornfield, the cereal aisle of a grocery store, or as we enter a patient’s room.

On the first day of nurses’ training they teach you to stop before entering a patient room, and to knock, respecting a patient’s privacy. Many of us use that split second to say, Father, tell me what to do. I’m opening the door to let in the light. That short prayer keeps us close to God.

Prayer from the heart isn’t dependent on words, it is communion, silent or otherwise, with one One. One God. Divine Oneness. It is atonement, or at-one-ment with omniscience, omnipotence, omnipresence, in other words, with God.

To begin our prayers, we would do well to heed Jesus' words; 'Don't be afraid,' he said. 'Take courage. I am here!' (New Living Translation of the Bible). I am here? Jesus here? In Manchester? Yes!

'Jesus was "the way", that is, he marked the way for all men,' wrote Mary Baker Eddy, in her book Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures on page 46.

As we follow in his footsteps, doing what he did, the way he did it, we can expect to see Christ-like 'miracles', and thus, understand how Jesus is 'here'.

If we love one God with all our hearts and souls and minds, there simply isn't room for anything unlike good. God is all in all. All means all! As we practice that kind of loving, we'll begin to see love, and healing, everywhere.

The first Commandment, Thou shalt have no other gods before me, (Exodus xx. 3.) is a profound command. A commandment is not a suggestion or a wish.

When we get acquainted with one good God, knowing and understanding that there are not many Gods, we can then experience harmony and healing.

Turning to the ideas we learn from studying Christian Science it's natural to hear one God speak to us, and for us to hear. It's natural to know that one God is in control. It's natural to know that we're never alone, and that one God's mighty works, are 'supremely natural' – that's DIVINE ONENESS!

Let's join Jesus in saying, I and my Father are one. There's only one One.

ALL WE DO IS OPEN THE DOOR TO DIVINE ONENESS.

The key is a simple transformation of thought, reaching out to God for well-being. Christian Scientists have additional help in asking for prayer from other Christian Scientists. Christian Science nurses and practitioners.

Many of our blessings have come from those 'angels'. Christian Science nurses' training has brought a multitude of blessings into our lives.

Mrs. Eddy wrote, 'A member of The Mother Church who represents himself or herself as a Christian Science nurse shall be one who has a demonstrable knowledge of Christian Science practice, who thoroughly understands the practical wisdom necessary in a sick room, and who can take proper care of the sick.' (Church Manual) A tall order, but one for which candidates are thoroughly trained and prepared.

There are training facilities all over the world, with first class training, including legal issues for different states and countries. After training, the possibilities are endless; nursing in one's own home, in a patient's home, in a Christian Science care facility in any of many countries, in a school or college or camp for Christian Scientists. Wherever God needs you. And places you.

There are some cautions, though. Mrs. Eddy wrote, ‘An ill-tempered, complaining, or deceitful person should not be a nurse.’ So, unless we’re ready to give up those false, negative qualities, we shouldn’t even apply.

She wrote, ‘The nurse should be cheerful, orderly, punctual, patient, full of faith, – receptive to Truth and Love.’ (S&H pg. 395)

Can you imagine what it would be like to hone those qualities of thought each day? Caring for someone in need allows us, no, DEMANDS, that we do just that – open the door for the light.
